CUSTOMERS SPEAK

I have been using SmartChem database for several years. I am pleased to state that its a very important tool for the search of suppliers all over the world. The distinction among manufacturers, traders and catalogue producers is really useful for my job. Also the introduction of REACH status has been really appreciated.

From the first day we owned it, SmartChem database became an important tool in my daily practice. We found it very helpful for our portfolio management, products selection, alternative synthetic routes exploring, suppliers evaluation etc. Simplicity and faithfulness of the web-based version makes the usage simple and very accessible. I wish ROW2 team to continue with database development and expansion.
